

Talking Student Partnership: Holly McAdams

Top Takeaways!

1

Collaborating across multiple campuses?

Bring together student leaders from all campuses (even global!) to talk through actions and priorities to ensure decisions meet the needs of all students.

2

Build on your Reps' goals

Connect student reps' goals with student satisfaction data (NSS, SSES, PTES, PRES) and with staff priorities to empower them to create wider change.

3

University Courts and College Boards...

Go through meeting papers with your student members ahead of meetings to hear their views.

4

Host a "Have Your Say" Event with students

Also include staff, and student reps around key topics and priorities.

5

Cascade your self-evaluation processes down to all levels

Quality staff should meet with your Reps; consider completing self-evaluations at a department level and feed these up to the wider SEAP.
