

Now recruiting!

Recruitment has opened for the next team of sparqs Associate Trainers (ATs).

Are you a student or apprentice? Could you help us train next year's course reps?

We are looking for enthusiastic and reliable students who will work with us to deliver training to next year's course reps, in colleges and universities across Scotland.

This is an attractive job with flexible hours and will suit current students with experience as a course rep and/or experience of delivering training.

We are particularly keen to receive applications from students who reflect the rich diversity of people studying within our colleges and universities.

Visit www.sparqs.ac.uk for full details and application details.

Here's what previous trainers have said:

The AT role is a great job for students because you can fit it around your studies. You receive really good training from sparqs, and you get to meet students from all over Scotland.

This experience gave me so much to talk about when I went to job interviews.
